DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Drawings

2. Figures 1-5 should be designated by a legend such as --Prior Art-- because only that which is old is illustrated. See MPEP § 608.02(g).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

3. Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claims are generally narrative and indefinite, failing to conform with current U.S. practice. They appear to be a literal translation into English from a foreign document and are replete with grammatical and idiomatic errors.

In claim 1, line 2 and line 6 and in claim 21, line 4 the word "typically" renders the claims vague and indefinite as it is not clear if the structure following this word is to be included in the structure of applicant's invention or not.

In claim 6 the use of phrases "so-called" and "may also" renders the claim vague and indefinite. Claim 6, lines 2-3 "reinforcement reinforcement means" should be --reinforcement means--.

In claims 14 the phrase "may or may not" renders the claim vague and indefinite.

Art Unit: 3727

In claim 17, "said upper reinforcements" has no antecedent basis. It would appear that this claim should be dependent from claim 10.

Claims 18-19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. Claims 18-19 are improper Markush claims in that they are of improper form.

In claim 20, the phrases "may be" and "possibly" render the claim indefinite and vague.

In claims 20-22, the following lack antecedent basis: said additional means, said upper reinforcement means, said lower reinforcement means, and said means for fastening.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-4 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Eguchi et al. '552.

Eguchi et al. teaches a capsule with a lower line of weakness 5 that divides the capsule between an upper part (1 and 3) and a lower part 2. An upper line of weakness 14 extends partially around the capsule so that the upper (cap) part 1 is removed with the strip 3. H is the distance between top 10 and lower line of weakness 5. L is distance between upper and lower lines of weakness. Clearly in figures 2-4, the distance L(between 5 and 15) is greater than half the distance H(between 5 and 10). For claim 3, the notches are located on either side of the point of tab 6(as shown) For claim 18, the capsule is may be made of Al, Al alloy, tin, tin alloy, lead, lead alloy or synthetic resin film.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1 and 3-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over the German reference(2,234,223) in view of Druesne et al. '989.

To the degree that applicant's claims are understood, the German reference teaches everything except for the space between the top and bottom lines of weakness being a distance L which is at least 0.5H where H is the distance of the bottom line to the upper end of the bottle neck.

Druesne et al. teaches a similar cap that has a pull strip defined by two lines of weakness wherein the space between the two lines is a distance L which is at least 0.5 the distance between the bottom line and the upper end of the bottle neck. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time of the invention to make the pull strip of the German reference between the two lines of weakness such that there is a distance L there between as taught by Druesne et al. so that the pull strip is larger and located more towards the upper end of the bottle.

With respect to claim 5, the combination, as set forth, discloses the claimed invention except for the tab width (L1) being 0.5L to L with L ranging from 1.5 to 4 cm. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the tab width (L1) such that between 0.5L to L with L ranging between 1.5 and 4 cm., since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).

8. Claims 5 and 19 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Eguchi et al. '552.

Eguchi et al. (as set forth above in paragraph #5) discloses the claimed invention except for the tab width(L1) being 0.5L to L with L ranging from 1.5 to 4 cm and the thickness of the capsule(claim 19). It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the tab width(L1) such that it is between 0.5L to L with L ranging between 1.5 and 4 cm and to make the capsule thickness as set forth in claim 19, since it has been held that discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch, 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215 (CCPA 1980).

Art Unit: 3727

Allowable Subject Matter

9. Claims 6-17 and 20-22 would be allowable if rewritten to overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, set forth in this Office action and to include all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Conclusion

10. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Ferguson, Blanchard, Eguchi et al. '251, Thomas et al., Pierlot et al., Cleff, Stattmann, Granger et al. and Ritzenhoff teach similar capsules with lines of weakness, opening tabs to what applicant is claiming.
